CONFERENCE WITH BOWMAN THURSDAY

Nine on Committee to Go to Chicago on Milk Price.

A conference with officials of the Bowman Dairy company at their Chicago office has been arranged for Thursday by Hugh Flemming-way, secretary of the Rock county Farm Bureau, when the committee of nine, representing milk producers associations of Janesville, Clinton and Brooklyn will call to learn whether anything will be done to improve the $2 price now in effect in Wisconsin.

Mr. Flemming-way acted as a member of the committee representing the Janesville Producers association. The other members from here are John J. McLean and Mary C. Kellinger.

They together with three men each from Brooklyn and Clinton will go to Chicago, to advise the Bowman company of the unfavorable sentiment existing among the producers towards accepting available, the 50-cent cut and that if they are in the manufactured milk district.

Meeting at 1:30 p. m. R. T. Ames, president and Wallace Crocker and H. L. Hoel, will represent Brooklyn, and P. E. Orfordale, Frank Henneke and W. C. Dunn, compose the committee from Clinton.

The conference has been set for 1:30 p. m. No proposals towards what would constitute a price basis that would prove satisfactory to the producers of Southern Wisconsin supplying Bowman plants, is expected to be made by the committee. Their purpose in visiting Chicago is to ascertain what stand is taken by the Bowman company.

Nothing Definite This Far The producers have nothing definite from the Bowman people first hand, other than the announcement that the price is $2 per hundred, W. J. Kittle of the Chicago Producers association, speaking at the Brooklyn producers' meeting was the authority for the statement that the Bowman company will continue to place Wisconsin milk in the manufactured milk zone.

The committee are expected to return and report to the producers of their association, and the result of the conference. Unfavorable reports, it is indicated, will bring action by the associations. The Clinton association has already made its stand by boycotting the Bowman company by withholding their milk if a better price is not fixed. The action taken Saturday night was not by majority but by unanimity. Feeling there is most decidedly unfavorable to accepting the price cut. Should they that be carried out, it would probably mean the closing of the Bowman plant at Clinton. It is now served by 24 farmers.

Milk Plant Proposed No action towards withholding milk from the Janesville and Brooklyn plants has been taken. Farmers attending the meeting at these two places are not in a hurry to show their ire over the alleged discrimination against their milk. Janesville has been the most militant, as many Brooklyn producers have indicated they would help establish an independent milk station.

The attitude of the leaders in the movement at Brooklyn is that a plant can be erected through assessment of 10 cents for each 100 pounds handled.

At the Janesville meeting Friday night, one member of the Brooklyn committee said that even if the plant was not erected, its establishment would be profitable if it kept the price of milk at a satisfactory level.

Janesville Farmers Dissatisfied Janesville producers are keeping cool heads, their attitude being one of watchful waiting. Members of the association are 100 per cent dissatisfied with the $2 price, as they showed when it was taken down at the meeting. They do not want to take any step that will jeopardize their chances of disposing of their milk or cream. Milk checks are the chief source of income for most farmers, and the one upon which they depend most. They have been called the staff of life of the farmer.

Most of the Janesville dairymen agree that payment on a butter basis would be more satisfactory than the present situation where they irregularly dispose of their milk and other times have the skimmed milk returned to them. They would be saved a lot of trouble and expense that they are now put to for freight, and would be able to raise more pigs, it is contended.

The committee members are expected to have considerable to say in protest against the action of the Bowman company in placing Wisconsin milk in the manufactured zone when they are received. Milk that conforms to all the restrictions placed upon the fluid milk patrons whose product is classed as fluid milk and sold in the bottle in Chicago.

May Pay $2.40 Here Something definite is expected from the Janesville dairies as to what price they will pay. The Janesville milk board will call Monday afternoon to determine what price will be paid. They conferred with Henry Casey of the Janesville Pure Milk company and visited the Morick Dairy company.

They were not able to see anyone at the Grant Dairy and Shurtliff Ice Cream company. Those four dairies are the only ones selling milk to Janesville consumers.

Casey Favors $2.40 Price A price of $2.40 will be maintained, if all assume the attitude taken by Mr. Casey who said he would be willing to pay that for October milk at the other Janesville dealers are reasonably satisfied. Nothing definite could be obtained from the dairies.

Wis. told delegates to the second annual Rural Life conference, a national organization, here Tuesday.

The co-operative movement often is not understood, the speaker said, explaining that it was not a communist movement, nor does it attempt to "pool" the efforts and products of farmers and stifle healthy initiative.

Co-operation, the speaker pointed out, contemplates only sound business methods in marketing of farm produce. The general establishment of rural co-operatives is dictated by the considerations of justice and public welfare, he added.

"The farmers' weak selling position can be brought to the level of equality only if the farmer enters co-operative selling associations," the Rev. Hase said.

"A farmer's income should be sufficient to pay him, first, a fair wage for his work and for that of his wife and children; secondly, a fair interest return on his investment plus deterioration charges on his lands and equipment; and finally, against the risks of weather and crop failures. Needless to say, thousands of efficient farmers are receiving much less than this combined amount."

"The remedy for the farmer's plight is economic, not political. Laws can not sow nor harvest grain. Government machinery should be set in motion only when public forces break down, or when they are demonstrably inadequate."

"The movement can be extended only through education, a thorough education of the rural church and the rural pastor should take a leading part."

PRICE OF HOGS IS HIGHEST SINCE '21

Peak Price of $11.85 Paid—Wage War on 'T. B.' in State.

Madison — Hogs "ran wild" at Chicago and other livestock centers last week soaring over $11.50, the high water mark since August, 1921.

To some middle western hog raisers, $11.85 was as good as $11.95 for they received a premium of ten cents for every 100 pounds of pork they sold. This extra premium is due to the fact that their hogs were free from tuberculosis, commonly called "T. B." and that the entire county, in which they live, has been thoroughly cleaned of this disease. In fact, their home county has been "scrubbed" so clean that under close scrutiny less than 0.5 percent of their cattle were found tuberculous.

Larson Aids Campaign This was pointed out by Dr. V. S. Larson, state veterinarian, who is aiding in the eradication of tuberculosis in Wisconsin.

Tuberculosis in hogs, according to Dr. Larson, is largely due to infection in cattle, either on the same farm or on the farm of a neighbor, who supplies milk to the consumer or whose factory. Hogs following T. B. free cattle or feed skim milk or whey, which has been properly pasteurized, will be practically free from tuberculosis.

Therefore, the evident need, said the veterinarian, is to wipe out all the tuberculous cattle in one territory at one time. "And this," he declared, "is just what we are doing in Wisconsin."

Infected Cattle Must Go The state livestock sanitary board, under whose direction the T. B. clean-up work is conducted, concentrates its work in county wide areas. After the breeders have agreed to clean-up their herds, inspectors of the state give an initial test. The condemned animals are removed and a second test is applied six months later. If at this time not more than 0.5 percent of the cattle react to the test, this area is placed in the list of modified accredited areas, the sections which are free from bovine tuberculosis.

However, if this area does not pass the second test satisfactorily, work is continued until it reaches the point where not more than one animal reacts from the disease out of every 200 tested. Even after the county has passed both tests and has been out in the list of modified accredited areas, it is still under state supervision and its herds are examined regularly.

The dairymen in a modified accredited area, Dr. Larson has noticed, are enabled to find better markets for their livestock and consequently realize a higher price than they would had their herds not been previously tested by the state.

Moreover, the packers are anxious to pay more for hogs from these sections, for they are absolutely free from any lesions of tuberculosis.

Tested in 2 Counties To date the testing work has been completed in twenty-two Wisconsin counties, according to the state veterinarian. Though these counties are not yet recognized as fully modified accredited areas, he predicts that a few, which have passed both tests satisfactorily, will be put in this select class shortly.

The following counties have completed the tests: Ashland, Barron, Bayfield, Chippewa, Clark, Douglas, Eau Claire, Florence, Iron, Jackson, Juneau, Lacrosse, Lincoln, Monroe, Outagamie, Price, Rock, Sawyer, Shawano, Vilas, Wood, and Washburn.

Glad to Pay Extra The large packing houses find it profitable to pay a ten cent premium for hogs coming from modified accredited areas, according to Dr. Larson.

The state veterinarian regards the losses due to condemnation for T. B. in such hogs as low. He estimated that in the past the loss caused by diseased animals has amounted to an average of $22.00 a carload. The premium of ten cents a hundred amounts to about $18.00 a car, and thus means, he concludes, "quite a saving both to the packer and the farmer."

CABBAGE CROP IS DISAPPOINTMENT

DUE TO WEATHER

Madison—Although it started out with good prospects, the cabbage season in Wisconsin has been somewhat of a disappointment, thus far, declares a report on conditions by the state department of markets.

The crop will be considerably less than the year before, because of an increased acreage, it is said. "This was due to the unfavorable weather conditions which cut down the yield considerably," the summary states. "The crop in the Racine-Kenosha county section, which is the largest producing section in the state, has been reduced to about one-half of the normal production."

Shipments will be greatly reduced. Up to the middle of this month there had been shipped only one-third of the normal amount. The remainder will be shipped up to the same time last year.

"The market has been somewhat unsettled, largely on account of the influence of the New York market," it is stated. "Wisconsin is the second largest producer of cabbage, and as the leading state, New York, has a very much larger crop this year, the market has been somewhat largely upon New York prices."

At the opening of the season the price of Wisconsin stock was good, but as the New York shipments became heavy, the price was forced down, and at the present time the market is weak with farmers being paid $8 to $10 per carload. New York stock, however, is selling at $12 to $14 per carload.

The local factories are busy with this year's cutting. Most of the early cabbage is used in this way. The late cabbage has not begun to move into storage yet on account of the warm weather. Much of the stock has not been harvested, and colder weather will be needed to increase activity in the cabbage market.

The quality is very good this year and the stock does not run to oversize heads as much as it did last year.

Dependable! No other cathartic regulate the bowels, restoring natural, regular movement. "Cascarets" are harmless and are used by millions of Men, Women and Children. 10c boxes, also 25c and 50c sizes. You. They positively strengthen and any drug store. —Advertisement.

COUNTY PAVING IS NEAR END FOR '24

Half Mile Remains to Be Laid to Finish Up Year's Program.

Commencement Monday of another week's operations, finds the Rock county highway department crew within a half mile of completing the 1924 work in connecting western towns with Janesville by a band of concrete.

But a half mile remains to be laid before 1924 operations will be halted to await the coming of spring, according to present plans, Charles E. Moore, county highway commissioner, said Monday. Operations have progressed to a point one mile west of Orfordville, being out on a marsh. The crew has a half mile to go before they will be on dry land again, Mr. Moore said.

Should a halt then be made, three miles would remain to be built next spring.

Weather Favors Progress. The finest weather of the year in September and October has made possible some real progress on the part of the construction gang, whose efficiency was hampered, and morale affected by poor weather through the normal construction period. For 25 consecutive days, the crew has been working, laying on an average of 600 feet daily.

"We could work all winter with weather of this kind," said Mr. Moore Monday. "It goes a long way toward making up for the summer period. The marsh, over which we are now working, is now dry for the first time this year."

May Run Farther Mr. Moore would not state positively that the completion of another half mile would bring down the current construction, but he believes it may be indicative to a further projected season.

The crew will have laid 10 miles of concrete when the half mile is finished.

Two more weeks will elapse before the concrete road between Footville and Orfordville is opened to traffic, but it will be a great improvement, giving the bridge over the big marsh, built by the crew in laying out the new route, sufficient time to settle.

Junior High Is Given Publicity

W. W. Brown, principal of the high school here, is author of a five-page article in the October issue of Educational Administration and Supervision, among the foremost eastern educational publications, issued at Baltimore. It is under the title, "The Possibilities of Administrative Organization of the Junior High School Under a Six-Year Organization."

A description of the local building is given, with particular reference to its arrangement and features, including the auditorium, cafeteria, library and chorus room. The manner in which the junior and senior high schools here, though both in the same building, have been practically separated, is discussed. The difference in the time schedules of the two schools, by which classes are not in the halls at the same time, the two daily assembly periods and the organization of separate faculties, though some teachers instruct in both schools, are related.

Special attention is given to the social separation and its advantages, and to the advisory group organization used here.

Kellogg's Bran did more in two weeks than medicine taken in 20 years

Out of regard for your own health, read this letter:

Gentlemen:

Your "Krumble Bran" used by me in two weeks has done me more in two weeks than the hundreds of dollars' worth of medicine I have taken in the last twenty years for constipation. It is wonderful, and it is so simple.

Yours truly, Arlington H. Carman, Fairbury, N. Y.

Mr. Carman's experience has been duplicated in thousands of homes. Why does Kellogg's Bran succeed when drugs and pills fail? The answer is simple. Drugs have an unnatural effect upon the bowels. They irritate the intestines. The more they are used, the more one has to use. Finally, they have no effect at all.

Kellogg's Bran STIMULATES the intestines. It cleans, sweeps and purifies them. It acts exactly as nature acts. And it is never necessary to increase the amount eaten. If eaten regularly, Kellogg's Bran is guaranteed to bring permanent relief to the most chronic cases of constipation, or your grocer returns your money. For Kellogg's Bran is ALL Bran. Nothing but ALL Bran can be so effective. That is why doctors recommend Kellogg's.

The wonderful, nut-like flavor of Kellogg's Bran is exclusive. It is delicious—totally unlike ordinary bran. Eat two tablespoons daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. Put it with milk or cream and in the recipes on every package. Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is made in Battle Creek. Sold by all grocers.

Reputable Incidents of the Campaign.

It is regrettable that in the present campaign there has been injected personal assault, personal abuse, slander, and the mud-slinging which, one and all we had hoped was eliminated forever from the campaigns for president. Senator Wheeler started the game with his personal attacks on the president and charging by the insinuation and subtle form of malicious slander that the president was mixed up personally with the Teapot Dome affair. Then Mr. Davis followed suit with other assertions regarding Mr. Coolidge, accepting most of the Wheeler slanders which he made his own. Mr. Davis, in his Milwaukee speech, was ill-advised and ill-tempered and got nowhere by his attack on Mr. La Follette. He has since changed that method of campaigning and has been more effective. Mr. Wheeler, however, grows more abusive as the days pass and the hopeless Mr. Davis, "aristocratic gentleman" that he is, tags along as poor second not being educated to the higher forms of billingsgate so readily used by Mr. Wheeler who has mostly associated with I. W. W. and others of like character in Montana, to secure his vocabulary.

The La Follette group of socialists and Davis democratic supporters have attacked the record of the president on the police strike in Boston. They have repeated the same falsehoods which have been used against Mr. Coolidge long since, and since also, many times disproved. So much so that Samuel Gompers and other labor leaders, now opposing Mr. Coolidge and ready to give currency to the Boston police strike that Governor (then) Coolidge had nothing to do with the ending of the police strike, were using the accepted fact that Mr. Coolidge did act in the Boston police strike as has been said repeatedly, as a reason for opposing him in 1920 for vice president. Mr. Gompers viciously attacked Mr. Coolidge at the time of the strike.

We expect, here in Wisconsin, that Mr. La Follette will attack the character of any person who opposes him. He is now making charges against the republican committee in reference to a "slush" fund. Two months ago it was given out from Washington that the La Follette organization expected to have a fund of five million dollars to use in the campaign. No one knows better than Mr. La Follette and the Wisconsin men behind him, one, Nelson, his chairman, and the other, Eklund, his finance manager, that the Wisconsin method is the outest political trick ever devised for hiding campaign expenses. No man except those within the inner circle knows how much money was spent by the Wisconsin non-partisan league in 1920 for the Dingle-Thompson ticket and the fight against Senator Leavorth. No one knows how much money was raised from the railroad men of 1922 for political purposes. Under the Wisconsin law no funds of this kind, those by the Women's Progressive committee and others of a like character, have to be reported.

After Mr. Eklund visited the state a few weeks ago it was published and not denied that $500,000 was to be raised in Wisconsin for the La Follette campaign. Now there was nothing at all about that. It would take an enormous sum for the nation-wide campaign of a man in the position of Senator La Follette, with no party behind him and the need for independent action, in each state and to build up an organization. One of the rules of judicial procedure is that a plaintiff must come into court with clean hands. Under the Wisconsin plan a campaign committee need not have more than enough for office rent in order to carry on a contest. There is nothing said in the report of the Nelson committee about the enormous sums being spent by Mr. T. V. O'Connor, long a president of the Longshoremen's union, that the federation was adding "a bunch of fake organizers" to the different international union payrolls for the "purpose of boosting the political fortunes of Robert La Follette and Burton Wheeler."

Where are these dollars reported? Where are the dollars raised by outside organizations reported? These are matters for Senator Borah to investigate as well as the La Follette charges of a republican "slush" fund. It takes enormous sums to carry on an effective political battle. If a letter and a piece of printed matter should be sent to each of the 27 million voters in the nation at a cost of five cents each, the expense would be $1,350,000 for that one item alone. The literature may be "slush" but that is not what the Third Party group wants it understood. It is the last resort cry, along with the Davis slanders, that the two candidates are hoping will stimulate the voters. Issues and principles are thrown to the winds now and will be for the rest of the campaign.

In the meantime that disconcerting person, the president of the United States, is minding his own business and has no mind to throw.

Every eligible voter who is away on a visit ought to have papers sent to him or her now in order to get them back on time.

As to Voting on Election Day.

Questions have been asked of the Gazette as to the place on the ticket for the electors of the several presidential tickets and if there is a sure-enough electoral ticket, for Coolidge and Davis. There will be a ticket in Wisconsin for the voters, on the presidential ballot headed by Calvin Coolidge and Charles G. Dawes. Under these names will be 15 electors who are pledged to vote for Coolidge and Davis. They are all well-known

THE AMERICAN GOVERNMENT

XIX—The Smithsonian Institution

By FREDERICK J. HASKIN.

Back in the stacks are 60,000 volumes of bound newspapers from a valuable file of "The Boston News Letter," beginning in 1710 down to the news sheets of the present year. But what are records of American history is of the greatest usefulness. Its search workers are always busy at the periodical room tables, surrounded by great volumes of bound newspapers. Of the 7,500 magazines available in this division, 1,500 are filed on open shelves in the periodical room for ready reference. The collection includes not only popular magazines but also specialized publications on a range of subjects from dogs to philosophy and from hair-dressing to tombstones.

It is one of the cherished ideas of the Librarian of Congress that the Library shall be made a great national institution, which will unlock all the treasures of the library world to the serious students of the United States. Although the greatest library in the Western Hemisphere, there are still many works lacking from the collection of the Library of Congress. The same is true of every other library in America. Not one of them has a complete collection. But what one of them lacks another possesses, and by a properly organized system of cooperation they may make available for all of them every book possessed by any one of them. Such a system of cooperation will give to the United States a library service superior to that of any other country in the world. The federal government has other libraries than the Library of Congress, and the make Uncle Sam the owner of more than 5,000,000 volumes. Each of the principal departments and bureaus of the government maintains a special library dealing with the subjects with which it is principally concerned. For instance, the bureau of education has the world's best library on educational matters; the bureau of fisheries has the finest library in existence on aquatic life; the bureau of agriculture possesses a magnificent library on scientific subjects; and the library of the office of the surgeon general of the United States army is regarded as the greatest medical library in the world. Such a system of cooperation has been established between these various libraries that they are practically one as far as research work is concerned.

The music division has almost 1,000,000 volumes of music in sheet form, and pamphlets, including many thousands of volumes of full scores of operas and symphonic works. The collection of opera librettos is unequalled. Several musical manuscripts by Robert Louis Stevenson attract unusual attention because few people know that Stevenson wrote music. The fact is he played the flute for his health and occasionally wrote melodies, none of which was ever published. The original handwritten copy of Noyen's famous "The Red Rover" is displayed in the music division, and also the manuscript of the rollicking "Stein Song."

In the manuscripts division may be seen the papers of the continental congress, and of Washington, Jefferson, Madison, and others, transferred from the state department together with various collections, the results of gifts as well as of purchases, which are now indispensable to students of American history in search of original material. The total number of volumes in the collection cannot be stated with precision, but one single group contains a hundred thousand pieces. The historical declaration of independence and the Constitution of the United States have recently been moved from the state department to the library of congress.

Handwriting of the most famous characters in American history is carefully preserved in this division. This includes original drafts of the Gettysburg Address are here in Lincoln's well-known hand, proving that the president did not dash off his masterpiece on an old envelope as he journeyed to Gettysburg. One of the drafts is written on White House stationery, partly in pencil. The first paper and the revised copy differ slightly from the address as it was finally delivered.

The most interesting Washington manuscript, perhaps, is the reply to a certain major who, in 1782, suggested that Washington become king, as the experiment of democracy seemed to be a failure. Washington immediately seized his quill and wrote (in part): "With a mixture of great surprise and astonishment I have read the sentiments you have submitted for my personal consideration. If you have any regard for your country, concern for yourself or posterity, or respect for me, banish these thoughts from your mind." To make impossible any future revolt as to this offer, Washington had his two aids witness the letter.

A file of the Charleston Courier, bought for a considerable sum, has been widely used to determine the question of loyalty in the case of those who made claims for reimbursement for property destroyed by federal troops during the Civil War. The venerable and famous John W. W. Stafford, under whose administration the library structure was built, and to whose memory it always will be a monument, once said that there should never be a censor of books in the republic. He asserted that no man could tell what portion of the trash of today would be the treasure of tomorrow.

It is interesting to reflect that all of the world's great collections in libraries started with 4,000 books belonging to Thomas Jefferson. When the Capitol was burned in 1814, the government's small collection of books was entirely destroyed. Jefferson had what was then probably the best private library in America. Some of his volumes dated back to the fifteenth century, but the collection was mainly remarkable for the range of its subject matter. The Jefferson books were housed in the government in 1815, and hauled from Monticello to Washington in wagons. Two-thirds of this valuable collection was destroyed by fire in 1821. The remaining volumes, in their faded brown covers, now line the walls in the office of the superintendent of the reading room.

question as to their vote if they are elected. It may be well to remember that no elector has ever been known to support any candidate since the present system was in operation in the United States who has betrayed a trust of this kind.

There is an independent ticket also with 15 names of electors beneath the names of La Follette and Wheeler. If the voter wishes to cast a ballot for La Follette, he will vote this ticket and the electors on that ballot will certainly vote for the Wisconsin senator, if they are chosen.

There is a democratic ballot also on which appears the names of Davis and Bryan and democrats voting that ticket will have a list of 15 electors following who will, if elected, vote for the democratic candidates.

One mark at the head of either one of the three tickets will register a vote for all electors in that column. There is nothing at all complicated about the ballot. The presidential ticket is separate from the state ticket.

If you are going to be away on November 4 get your vote in by affidavit now.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

THE POOR SHOT

I'm what the hunters joke at, I'm what they called a phrase for me. I'm what they term a "rotten shot" I'm always when the partridge rises There seems a mist before my eye.

I love to see the deer at point, I like a crisp October day, I like to shoot the "rotten shot," At night I like to "hit the hay" Perhaps I'm happiest of the lot, Because I am "a rotten shot!"

I call it hunting when I go, To tramp the woods with dog and gun, And friends it is a joy to know; But always when the day is done I find I shoot me to say, The birds I missed at got away.

It is enough for me to be, Out there where life is free from shame; To rest beneath a friendly tree, And come to peace with seeking game; Sometimes I think 'twould spoil it all If at my hand a bird should fall.

My faults are many but at last, When my career on earth is run, And I am judged for all that's past, I'm blamed or praised for what I've done, I think it will not be forgot, That I was called a "rotten shot."

HOROSCOPE

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1924.

This is rather an uncertain day, but it may be made a very lucky one, according to astrology. While Jupiter is in benefic aspect, Neptune is adverse.

Under this planetary government there should be a strong revival of trade and prospects of much Christmas buying. Manufacturers will have heavy contracts to fill and again may make war weapons of various kinds.

Neptune is in a place denoting more agitation regarding the navy. Criticism will be made of some governmental policy that arouses women and other peace advocates.

According to ancient lore, Wednesdays are best for men and this particular day should be exceedingly opportune for his enterprises. Persistently the stars prophesy that while there will be a sensational result in the November election, there is a star indicating that he who holds governmental reins will grasp them too firmly to let go.

This is not an auspicious day for starting on an ocean voyage. Many drawings are predicted for the next two months. Bankers, brokers, lawyers and clerical men all come under a most promising way making for public as well as the usual professional activities.

There is an indication that money may be easily borrowed while this configuration prevails. Women are again subject to a rule of the stars making the stars and signs.

When they shorten their skirts, women again unconsciously prepare for the wearing of uniforms. Extremes in fashion will pre-empt grave international troubles.

Persons whose birthday it is have the augury of a busy year in which they will meet with great success. Children born on this day may be given to worry, because they are too conscientious, but these boys and girls are the stars of labor and Scorpio and should be rarely fortunate.

OHIO HAS FEWER PAUPERS SINCE PROHIBITION

A very striking decline in the number of paupers in Ohio features a report just issued by the United States Census Bureau.

"The point is made by those who have analyzed the figures that, whether co-incidental or otherwise, the general decline of pauperism in Ohio has come since prohibition went into effect. It will be observed that paupers admitted to the almshouses in 1904 comprised 161,191, or 100,000 per cent. That the ratio of those admitted in 1919 compared with 1904, however, was 100,000 per cent. This is a star indicating that the drop did not come until 1922 prohibition had been operative for several years."—Louis Ludlow in Columbus (Ohio) Dispatch.

TODAY'S MARKET

GRAIN

Chicago Review.
Chicago—The grain market was active and well supplied and of world's import requirements. Wheat, today averaged lower in price. Advertisers were also current that the Argentine crop outlook was improving as a result of further rains. On the other hand, there were indications that export demand for United States wheat was again active this morning. The opening, which varied from 1 1/2 to 1 3/4, was followed by something of a rally and then by numerous fluctuations within a range of 1/4.

Wheat scored moderate advance in price today after early decline. For instance, became active and a number of traders appeared to lean to the view that perhaps had been more than sufficient for at least the time being. There was a nervous close, 1 1/2 to 1 3/4, and may 1 1/2 to 1 3/4.

Subsequently, it was reported that the rains in Argentina were inadequate. Some bullish sentiment was also evidenced by assertions that new British figures on the wheat crop in Argentina were much smaller than those were larger than any American authority had conceded.

On the other hand, were swayed by the action of wheat. First news had no apparent effect on values, being considered a factor in the Argentine crop. The market was strengthened by news of export sales. The close was 1 1/2 to 1 3/4, and may 1 1/2 to 1 3/4.

CONSERVATIVES TO AID UNIONS, PLAN
(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)

London.—The conservative party, if it is returned to power in the general election next week, will re-impose the McKenna duties.

Trade union leaders ask for such action. Sir Johnson-Hicks, conservative, declared in a campaign speech at Liverpool last night.

"We shall reimpose the McKenna duties," he said, "in order to give some fairness between our own people and the Belgian and German nations."

He added, however, that protective duties would not be imposed until trade union leaders ask for such a step.

COMMISSION SETS UP NEW RULING

Valuation of Public Utilities No Longer at Reproduction Cost.

Madison—A principle of vital importance to utility firms throughout Wisconsin was set forth by the state railroad commission Tuesday in announcing that it fixed the valuation of properties of the Ashland Water company at $240,000. The ruling in effect sets out that the commission, in general, will not accept the present day reproduction cost of properties as valuation.

Although there are exceptions to the rule, officials of the commission say the general policy of placing the valuation of utility works at present construction costs, plus a reasonable advance, has been adopted. In the Ashland case the firm claimed a valuation of over $1,000,000, but its claim on present reproduction cost. In fixing the valuation at $240,000 the commission took the construction cost plus 10 per cent. The commission also denied application of the company for a general increase in rates but allowed an added $400 for the protection of the public. The company claimed it was not making a reasonable return on the valuation of the plant.

HALF MILLION LEAD FOR COOLIDGE IN OHIO

of his strongest labor is particularly assertive here. Reports from other parts of the state indicate that the drift to LaFollette in the rural sections has been checked.

Will Not Vote Wet
LaFollette is a "wet" and there are farmers in Ohio who would not vote for a "wet," no matter how friendly he is to agriculture. The republican management has been spreading word throughout the state, too, on the proposal of LaFollette to upset the supreme court's power and vest some of it in congress. The Ohio farmers are as radical as those of the west. They haven't reached the point where they will exchange experimentalism for the conditions under which they live today. The west is in much more of a mood as a rule to accept change. Ohio is a progressive state and has on more than one occasion shown its independence, but the LaFollette movement hasn't taken hold in the rural districts of Ohio as it has in some of the agricultural areas of the west. This means that the republican party, whose greater strength is on the farms, will retain proportionately more of its strength in Ohio than is true of western states. LaFollette will be third in this state, and John W. Davis, second.

Whole of a Majority
For it looks almost certain that Coolidge will have a tremendous majority in Ohio.

Some estimates run as high as 500,000 plurality, but this would appear to be exaggerated. There can be little doubt that President Coolidge will have a majority of the votes cast, namely that he will have more than LaFollette and Davis combined, but there are reasons for a lesser vote this time for the republican nation ticket than in 1920, when Ohio was voting for its favorite son.

So far as electoral votes are concerned, however, the Ohio group of electors may be put down for President Coolidge. Even democrats are inclined to concede the vote when they speak of giving "a fighting chance" in the state.

Race for Governor
The gubernatorial race has, as usual, a bearing on the situation. Two years ago, Governor Donahay, democrat, was elected, notwithstanding the overwhelming republican victory of 1920. This year Donahay is running for re-election and his republican opponent is Harry L. Davis, who was elected governor four years ago. Local issues always enter into a campaign, and there are some people who think Donahay is stronger than he was in 1920, though one hears a great deal about scratched tickets, which would indicate that the state and national tickets are not necessarily of the same strength. Donahay is probably stronger than John W. Davis in this state, but President Coolidge is stronger than Harry Davis, who might be assisted into office by the Coolidge vote.

The republicans are fairly well organized. The democrats are campaigning intensively for their ticket, but the LaFollette movement has the backing of the Scripps newspapers in

The map tells an interesting story. The black sections in the map show areas in Wisconsin where there is territory more than three miles away from a patrolled trunk highway. This map

When the spotlight was turned on the box where Dr. Eckener and his staff of officers were seated, he arose and asked permission to speak in German. There was no protest.

Battle for Mecca Vital to 222,000,000 Mohammedans

London.—Two hundred and twenty-two millions of people are vitally interested in the outcome of the present struggle for possession of Mecca. They are the Mohammedans of the world; Mecca is their holy city.

The cause of the trouble is the religious ambition of Hussein, nephew of a formerly Arab chieftain, Hussein succeeded in making himself king of the Hejaz when that new nation was created out of the ruins of the Turkish empire wrought by the world war.

Believe Death an Honor

Recently, when the government of new Turkey abolished the caliphate and sent the calif flying to Switzerland, Hussein proclaimed himself caliph of the Islamic faith and spirit. Hussein is the 222,000,000 Mohammedans. Other powerful Mohammedan rulers also sought the title and power. Hussein's claim caused agitation.

Now the Saudi, shrewd and intelligent ruler of Nejd, who covers the barren center of Arabia, is endeavoring to capture Mecca from Hussein and put an end to his ambitions disturbances. Part of the Saudi is a horde of desert warriors, the Wahabi tribe who firmly believe that meeting death while fighting for the faith assured immediate entry into the Mohammedan heaven.

To European nations that are members of the League of Nations, especially Great Britain, which is chiefly concerned in that part of Arabia, this war is an unpleasant climax to the program of political control of the Arab world, which has been developing since the signing of the Treaty of Versailles.

On the Saudi side, the British assistance has been rendered in various ways as well as his sons, Prince Abdullah in Transjordan and King Faisal in Mesopotamia, from being driven from their thrones by the Wahabids.

Those were merely local fights for temporal power, but the present contest is a broader issue, other sects are expected to take sides and the Mohammedan millions in India and other parts of the world will raise their voices.
